

ANIMAL WARS

HAL AMES AND ANDY ZHANG

Tommy has had many toys while growing up, but the ones he likes the best are his three monkeys. He has Yellow Monkey, Green Monkey, and Long Arm Monkey. They are all male monkeys and they have a lot of fun together. They play well with Tommy's toys, but they don't like all of his brother's. They like to play with Giant Polar Bear, Red Bear, Mr. A Monkey, and Ice Polar Bear, a really small blue colored bear, but they don't like green-white cats at all.

Yellow Monkey is the newest. He replaced Smart Monkey who was old. Smart Monkey was more than ten years old when Tommy got rid of him. He put him in the trash. Smart Monkey didn't like being thrown away, but that is the life of a stuffed animal, especially one that has been the best toy of a young boy. His head was almost torn off and he didn't have much fur left. He was worn out.

Green Monkey and Long Arm Monkey are older, but when Tommy was younger he didn't play with them as much, so they are still in good condition.

His brother has green-white cats, and they are big bullies all the time. He has thousands of them. They run together like a gang. They take the homes of the other animals and make them leave. Ethan's animals do not like Tommy's animals either because of this, especially Mr. A Monkey.

Tommy's monkeys do not like them at all. The cats are green and white, his brother's favorite colors. They are all females and they are so bossy. Tommy's monkeys do not like to play with them. Usually Tommy's toys always stay in his room with the door closed.

The only toys they let into the room are the ones they like, including a new toy, Kangaroo.

Some of Ethan's toys do not like the green-white cats. They help Tommy's toys when there is a battle, but only when they are in Tommy's room. When they are in Ethan's room, they stay away from the green-white cats. Only the green-white cats like each other, but no one else.

Sometimes, invasive animals come into the room. These are the green-white cats. When the green-white cats come into the room, Weasel sets off an alarm. This prepares everyone for battle.

Yellow Monkey has a small amount of yellow hair on top of his head. He is always smiling, except when the green-white cats come into the room. Green Monkey is all green except for a white face. He has long fur that keeps Tommy warm at night. Long Arm Monkey is an endangered monkey called a goblin. Its arms and legs stretch when Tommy pulls on them. He can hang from the ceiling and swing back and forth. Whenever the green-white cats come into the room. Long Arm Monkey scares them away by swooping down and making a screeching noise.

Tommy used to have Grey Monkey, but he ran away. He hated the green-white cats. He entered many races and trained every day to get faster and faster, but he was always trapped in the corner because there were too many green-white cats. Finally, he had had enough! So, he left. Before he went, he put a bomb into a bag and left it in Ethan's room. When it blew up, some of the green-white cats died. This made the green-white cats mad and they have become even bigger bullies to Tommy's monkeys.

Escaping Monkey is Yellow Monkey's cousin. He is lost. No one knows how to find him. Maybe he escaped, and no one knew about it.

In Tommy's room there is a big elephant and on the side it says, 'Police'. Tommy's toys love to play with him. Yellow Monkey will put on a red hat and Green Monkey will put on a blue hat. Then they climb on top of Elephant and turn their heads, acting like flashing lights, while Big Gorilla sits on his back. He is the sheriff. Yellow Monkey sounds just like a siren when they move around the room. This really annoys the green-white cats.

The green-white cats always come into the room to scare the monkeys to make them stop playing with Elephant. Whenever they arrive, the other animals prepare for a fight. Then everything becomes crazy. The green-white cats run around and make a lot of noise while the monkeys try to hide. Dust and dirt flies everywhere. When Tommy walks into the room, they stop. Tommy looks at the mess on his floor, and then he puts the green-white cats back into his brother's room where they belong.

Because the green-white cats are getting older, they don't want to go out of their room anymore. They just keep to themselves. Now, Yellow Monkey, Green Monkey, and Long Arm Monkey can get revenge on the green-white cats. They have not forgotten about how mean the green-white cats were to them when they were younger. They make a plan.

Yellow Monkey receives a call from Mr. A Monkey, a good friend who lives next door. He tells Yellow Monkey that he was told that the oldest green-white cat is becoming very sick and is dying. This is bad news for the green-white cats, but good news for the monkeys. The oldest green-white cat is the boss. She is the one who always tells the other green-white cats when to fight. She is the biggest bully! She bullies Slinky Dog, but it doesn't work because Slinky Dog goes around her and makes her fall down. Slinky dog is not afraid of the oldest green-white cat or any of the green-white cats.

Kangaroo always kicks her in the face. The oldest green-white cat decides not to bother Slinky Dog or Kangaroo. She only picks on Yellow Monkey, Green Monkey and Long Arm Monkey.

Hammer Monkey isn't as new as Yellow Monkey. He is the strongest monkey. He always carries a big hammer in his hands. In battles he uses it to smash green-white cats. When the green-white cats come into Tommy's room he tries get as many as he can. That is one of reasons why the green-white cats no longer go to Tommy's room.

Maybe now Tommy's toys can play without being interrupted by the green-white cats, since they stay in Ethan's room all the time now.

The plan is for Tommy's toys to go into Ethan's room and chase the green-white cats until they leave the room. Then they will close the door and make the green-white cats live in the living room.

The green-white cats hear about the plan and become afraid! What are they to do?

They need to get more green-white cats to help them, but the only way is to find green-white kittens. Getting green-white kittens is difficult. Green-white kittens are hatched from eggs, that is how they are born.

One problem is that weasels love to eat green-white cat eggs. And if the weasels don't eat them, then when they hatch, gorillas want to capture them. Since Gorilla always goes to Ethan's room, it is difficult to hide green-white kittens. If they are not careful Gorilla will take them away.

Tommy has a weasel he got for his birthday, but he doesn't play with it much. Weasel sleeps most of the time under his bed, but when he smells green-white kitten eggs, he gets excited.

The green-white cats build a special box for the eggs to be in, so that the weasel won't eat them. Every day the green-white cats guard the box. If anything comes near the box, they will chase it away.

The weasel is very crafty, and he eats all but one of the green-white cat eggs.

When the kitten hatches, it makes so much noise that Gorilla hears it. He climbs onto Elephant. Yellow Monkey and Green Monkey sit on Elephant's head and they go to Ethan's room. The elephant lets out a loud roar. Yellow Monkey is screeching like a siren, Gorilla is pounding his chest, and Hammer Monkey follows. Gorilla sees the green-white kitten and he is ready to take it, when Ethan walks into the room and sees all the toys on the floor.

He picks up Elephant, Gorilla, Yellow Monkey, Long Arm Monkey, Hammer Monkey, and Green Monkey and carries them to Tommy's room. Weasel is still in the room under the bed. He stays behind to be a spy.

Ethan drops the toys he took from his room onto the floor of his brother's room and closes the door.

When Tommy comes home he sees his toys in a pile. They don't look happy.

Flat hedgehog stays in Ethan's room too. He is so flat the green-white cats cannot see him. He lays in the middle of the floor as a trap. When the green-white cats come by, he spikes them. The green-white cats like to stomp around the room, which bothers Tommy's toys, so Flat Hedgehog makes them stop.

Tommy can never find Flat Hedgehog because he is so flat, but when he is in Ethan's room, he makes the Green-white cats stop stomping. The only time Tommy can find him is when the green-white cats make so much noise when they get stabbed by the barbs.

Weasel is in the room observing the kitten. He wants to tell Gorilla when it is the best time to eat the green-white kitten. The kitten has not yet opened its eyes. Weasel is waiting for the plan to work, so he can take the kitten to Gorilla.

He plans that before the green-white kitten opens its eyes, Flat Hedgehog will chase the green-white cats away, he will then steal it and bring it near the pond.

The plan goes into effect when the green-white cats are sleeping. Weasel steals the green-white kitten and carries outside to the pond where all Tommy's toys meet. This will be the trap to get the green-white cats outside where Ambulocetus can eat them. He hates green-white cats as well, but he loves to eat them.

The kitten moves and meows so loud that Ambulocetus, who lives in the pond, hears it even though it is under water.

Ambulocetus tries to ambush weasel while he is still holding the green-white kitten, but gorilla jumps down from a tree and takes the green-white kitten first.

The green-white cats realize the green-white kitten is in danger and go to save it.

This starts a war against the green-white cats! All of Tommy's animals and all of Ethan's animals meet by the pond to fight the green-white cats. Even Ambulocetus is ready to join because he is very hungry.

Tommy's mother goes out to put the laundry on the drying line and sees all of the toys laying on the ground.

"How did these get here?" she asked herself.

It took two trips to return the toys to the rooms, but she forgot to take weasel, who still had green-white kitten in its mouth. The thing she did that was wrong was she put all of the green-white cats in the wrong room. This is not a good thing. The war continued after she leaves the room.

The green-white kitten manages to escape from weasel, but it doesn't know how dangerous it is to be near the edge of the pond.

Ambulocetus takes a chance. He lurks near the surface, watching the green-white kitten. It looks so yummy, but then he realizes that it is green-white kitten. He doesn't like green-white kittens, so he drags the green-white kitten into the water.

The taste of the green-white kitten is so bad, Ambulocetus spits it out onto the shore.

The green-white kitten shakes off the water and runs toward the house. She gets to the door, but it is closed.

William, Tommy's dog, finds the green-white kitten and picks it up. He carries it through the doggy door into the kitchen, starts to play with it, and throws into the air shaking his head. The green-white kitten gets dizzy. William tries to pull off her head, but only twists it to the side.

Soon, William is bored and leaves green-white kitten on the floor, where Tommy's mother finds it. She shakes the green-white kitten to get William's slobber off it, then takes it to Ethan's room. She tosses it into the room next to the box where she hatched. The green-white cats stop fighting and look over at the poor green-white kitten who looked terrible. William had almost destroyed it.

"Now what do we do? Our poor kitten is almost dead," one of the green-white cats said.

The other animals laughed. They think it is funny how the green-white kitten looks. They are happy that it is almost dead.

Just then, Gorilla runs into the room, grabs the helpless green-white kitten and runs out of the room to Tommy's room where he plans to keep it in a jail. He does not want the kitten to become a mean green-white cat. He plans to train it to be a spy for him when it is older.

The green-white kitten is in very bad condition.

Tommy sees the green-white kitten in his room. He knows Ethan will be angry if he finds out the kitten is there, so he makes a plan.

He takes the green-white kitten to his sister Sabrina, who agrees to fix the green-white kitten.

When she puts it back in Tommy's room, it is now yellow and white. She had to change the kitten's fur because the old one was ruined by William. Now no one knows that it is really the green-white kitten.

Everyone laughed when they saw it for the first time.

"That is so funny!" said Elephant. "I have never seen a yellow-white kitten before."

Flat Hedgehog said, "What kind of kitten is that?"

They did not know that it was really the green-white kitten, so for the meantime, he was safe from Gorilla and Ambulocetus.

Everyone went over to look at the new toy including Ancient Frog. He was just curious about what everyone else was doing. He didn't really care about anything. He was too old. He liked it better when he could sleep on a shelf away from the toys. He preferred someplace wet, but Tommy's mother took the aquarium out of the room when the goldfish died.

Weasel is under the bed most of the time. When the new kitten came to the room he realized something was not right. He smelled that the green-white kitten was in the room, but he could not see it. Weasel always watches the room. He is the security guard and when other toys come into the room, he checks the animal species, to make sure they are in the family.

The largest family is the battling group. This includes most of the animals. For example: Yellow Monkey, Flat Hedgehog, etc.

Another group is the thunder lightning group. This includes Soundwave Hippopotamus and Lightning Rabbit.

Now that the green-white kitten is yellow and white it is not worried about being in a battle, until Weasel tells everyone that it is really the green-white kitten. None of the toys believe Weasel, so Weasel pulls some of the new fur and under it they see it really is the green-white kitten.

The green-white kitten panics. She meows so loud that the green-white cats in the other room hear it. They come running into Tommy's room to save it.

Weasel says to the others, "Retreat!"

So, everyone retreats and pretends to be doing the normal things they do every day.

When the green-white cats come into the room, nothing seems to be different. Weasel has the green-white kitten in his mouth under the bed, so it can't get away.

"Where is the kitten!" screams one of the green-white cats. "We heard her; we know she is here. We have come to take her home. Are you ready for battle?"

Tommy's toys jump up. They are ready. To the surprise of the green-white cats, they find themselves surrounded.

Ancient Frog says, "Frogs, fight!"

Thousands of frogs jump out from everywhere, from boxes, in the closet, from the shelves, everywhere!

Gorilla sees them coming, and says, "Where did all these frogs come from? I have never seen them before."

Ancient Frog answers, "You know that frogs multiply very quickly. We have been hiding for a time just like this."

Unknown to the toys, green-white cats can control dinosaurs. Tommy collected so many dinosaurs that when the green-white cats call them, the room is full of frogs fighting dinosaurs. By now all the toys from Ethan's room are now in Tommy's room. The battle is fierce. Fur, stuffing, arms, and legs are flying everywhere. The green-white cats are in the middle and they are getting the worst of it.

Bombs are dropping from the cannon on the shelf. Gorilla is shooting them. Elephant is running around trying to step on toys, Yellow Monkey and Green Monkey are on its head acting like lights while Yellow Monkey is screaming like a siren. Long Arm Monkey is holding one of the green-white cats and is stretching as far as he can trying to pull its head off.

Sabrina's animals decide to join in. Now the toys from the whole house are in Tommy's room fighting. Sabrina's have never been in Tommy's room before. They had heard stories about how mean the green-white cats were, but they had never been in Sabrina's room. Nothing like this has ever happened before.

The door to Tommy's room flies open. In the doorway stands Tommy's mother.

When this happened, the fight stopped. The animals fell to the floor, but the mess was everywhere.

“How did this room get so messy?” Mom said. “All these toys are ruined. Now I have to throw them out.”

She leaves to get a big bag to put all the toys into. She cannot believe the big mess and how badly the toys looked.

She went to Tommy and asked, “Why did you destroy all the toys. How did Ethan’s and Sabrina’s toys get in your room? They are going to be very angry with you.”

“I don’t know what you are talking about, mom” Tommy answered. “I will clean up the mess. Sorry mom.”

During the time the door is closed again, the battle starts all over again. The green-white cats are in pieces on the floor. The only one to survive is the green-white kitten, who is now yellow and white. She is kind, so the animals like her.

Unknown to the toys, Escaping Monkey had taken the egg and changed the DNA, so the green-white kitten is different. They like that she is now a yellow-white kitten.

Tommy goes to his room. He cannot believe what he sees. In the middle of the room the green-white cats were torn. He picks them up and puts them into a bag. Some of the other toys are damaged, but they can be repaired, while others are fine.

Elephant, Flat Hedgehog, Long Arm Monkey, Ambulocetus, and Escaping Monkey are just fine.

Tommy picks up Ethan’s toys and put them into Ethan’s room, and then he does the same with Sabrina’s toys.

It takes a long time for Tommy to put his toys where they belong. He fixes the ones that are damaged. Smart Dog is the worst, so he has to throw him away. This makes Tommy sad. Smart Dog is one of his favorites.

The war between the animals comes to an end. The green-white cats are thrown away, and there is peace in the house for the first time. All the animals get along and play together every day.

Ethan and Sabrina are not happy. So many of their toys are destroyed and they blame it on Tommy. They say that he was the one who broke the toys when he played with them.

They have no idea how the war between the animals happened.

Tommy's toys finally have peace. The fighting stopped when Ethan's green-white cats were thrown away.

Another toy, called Long-Legged Panda has a very interesting experience. He sees a UFO, but nobody believes him. He has seen it more than ten times, but each time he sees it, he is alone. He tried to show it to his friends, but by the time they come it was gone.

"Why do you keep telling us there is a UFO when we have never seen one?" asks Red Elephant. "I think you're crazy."

The UFO flies around Long-Legged Panda's house, and only comes into Tommy's room when all the other animals are asleep. It makes a lot of noise, and when the animals wake, the only thing they see is Long-Legged Panda falling into the costume pile and yelling for help.

"Did you see it! It was here just a minute ago!" he yells.

"See what?" asks Wild Pig.

"THE UFO!" Long-Legged Panda yells again.

"Nope, never saw it," says Yellow Monkey. "I think you are dreaming."

"What about all the noise it was making?" asks Long-Legged Panda.

"That was you falling into the costume pile. Everyone knows that," says Ancient Frog.

Long-Legged Panda is so sad that no one believes him, so he decides to move. Unfortunately, he can't. He slips on a piece paper on the floor and hurts himself.

"OUCH!" he yells as he rubs his backside. "Who put this paper here on the floor?"

No one says anything.

"Seriously, who put the paper there?" he asks again.

Still no answer.

He thinks for a moment and then laughs, "It was me. I was going to draw a picture of the UFO for you guys, but I forgot."

Yellow Monkey suddenly says, "Wait! Wait a moment. There is something that is not right here. I don't think that's you. I think the Green-white cats left the paper here. Let's look at it."

On the back of the paper there is a note. Yellow Monkey is right.

The note says, 'We will be back!' signed Green-white cats.

"Oh no! Not again" says Ambulocetus. "I hate Green-white cats."

Ambulocetus is now living in Tommy's room since the Green-white cats left.

When Long-Legged Panda gets out of the costume pile he is wearing a cone on his head, and cups are stuck to his hands and legs, and worst of all, there is a plastic bag over his head which makes his words muffled.

"Help me! I can't move!" Long-Legged Panda yells out.

No one listens, they can't understand him, and they are tired of his stories.

He sneezes, and the plastic bag flies off his head, as well as the cone.

"That's better," he says to himself. Then Sarcastically, he says, "Thanks guys for helping me."

Ignoring Long-Legged Panda, the animals think about the note.

"How can we stop the Green-white cats from coming back?" says, Long Armed Monkey. "If Ethan wants Green-white cats, his parents will probably buy them for him. How can we convince Ethan not to want Green-white cats?"

"How do we do that?" asks Wild Pig.

"I have an idea," suggests Long Legged Monkey. "Maybe he likes UFOs."

"UFOs? Are you crazy? There are no such things as UFOs." Red Elephant yells at Long-Legged Panda. "Can't you get that through you mind, please?"

Long-Legged Panda goes to the corner and sits down. While sitting there he tries to shake the cups off his feet and hands, but it isn't working. Only one cup fell off.

"Can I get some help here?" Long-Legged Panda asks.

Once again, no one listens to him.

Suddenly, the animals hear a noise.

Yellow Monkey says, "What is that noise?"

Long-Legged Panda yells at them, "It's the UFO!"

Weasel says, "Someone is coming. Hide now before they come into the room."

Long-Legged Panda, trying to walk with the cups on his feet, falls into the costume pile again.

Everyone else hides. Long-Legged Panda manages to crawl out of the costume pile and is in the middle of floor looking for a place to hide, when Ethan walks in.

"Long-Legged Panda looks funny!" Ethan says.

Then he picks up Long-Legged Panda and takes him to his room and puts it into his toy box. He doesn't want Tommy to know what he has done. He is still angry at Tommy's toys for killing his Green-white cats.

When Ethan leaves, all the toys come out again, and they notice that Long-Legged Panda has disappeared. They go to Ethan's room to look for him, and they find him in Ethan's toybox. They open the box and rescue Long-Legged Panda and take him back to Tommy's room.

"Why did Ethan take you?" Elephant asked.

"I think he is mad at Tommy because we killed the Green-white cats," Long-Legged Panda answered.

"What shall we do?" asked Yellow Monkey.

"Why don't we go back to Tommy's room and bring his toys here. Ambulocetus can be our prison guard under Ethan's bed. What do you think?" suggested Ancient Frog.

The army of toys from Tommy's room quickly group together, when suddenly the housekeeper opens the door. It is her time to clean the room.

She sees Tommy's toys in a pile in the middle of the floor.

"I wish Ethan would pick up his toys. They are always such a mess," she says to herself.

She picks up the toys and tosses them into Ethan's toybox closing the lid.

"Uh oh, how do we get out of here? We aren't strong enough to open the box," Elephant says. "Plus, it is so high, we can't reach it."

Yellow Monkey suggests that they make a pyramid and then they can reach the lid.

"But, are we strong enough to open it?" asked Elephant again.

“We’ll never know until we try,” Green Monkey answered.

Elephant is at the bottom because he is the strongest, then Weasel, followed by Flat Hedgehog, then Ancient Frog, next was Goofy, Yellow Monkey, Long Arm Monkey, and on top Ambulocetus because his mouth is so strong it can open the box enough for the animals to crawl out.

Long Arm Monkey pushes Ambulocetus up as high as he can. Then Ambulocetus opens his mouth and it works! The top opens just enough. The other animals crawl up the pyramid and go out one by one. Long Arm Monkey reaches down and gets the ones from the pyramid except Elephant. He is just too heavy.

Elephant starts to rock the box back and forth until it finally falls over, almost killing Flat Hedgehog who was not paying attention.

Suddenly there is a loud noise. The animals look up and in the air above them is the UFO! Long-Legged Panda shouts out, “I told you so! You didn’t believe me, but now you do!”

The UFO lands, a door opens, and out walks a green little alien with three eyes, which are looking in different directions.

“How does he do that?” Yellow Monkey asks.

It has two arms and two legs, but it hops like a frog when it moves from place to place. Otherwise, it can stand straight.

“I – come – in – peace!” the alien says in a very high voice. “I – want – to – be – your – friend.”

The animals look at each other.

Ancient Frog speaks up, “Are we sure we can trust him? For a long time, only Long-legged Panda was able to see him. Why does he want to be friends with us now?”

“Let’s give him a try. We can always get rid of him later if we need to. We got rid of the Green-white Cats, didn’t we?” says Yellow Monkey.

They turn to the alien and greet him, “Welcome to Tommy’s room.”

The rest of the day, the animals and the alien tell stories. He is very funny.

The doorbell rings.

A few minutes later, Tommy enters the room with a friend. His friend sees the UFO on the floor.

“Hey, I had one of those and then it went missing. Where did you get that?” Arthur asked.

“I found it,” Tommy answers.

“Where did you find it?” Arthur inquires.

“I found it near the pond. William was playing with it. He almost ate it, but I saved it and brought it home. I gave it to Ethan, but now it is in my room. Do you want it back?” Tommy asks.

“No, I lost the controller to it, so I can’t fly it anymore. You can have it,” Arthur offers.

The animals hear the conversation and are happy that the Alien was going to stay.

Goofy almost falls off the shelf because he is so excited. He wants to go for a ride in the UFO. If Arthur took the Alien home, he would not be able to do that.

Tommy and Arthur sit on the floor and play games with the animals. Arthur flies the UFO around the room in his hand making strange noises, while Tommy plays with Ancient Frog shooting bullets at the UFO. One time, he hits the UFO and it drops down to the floor. The animals are shocked.

“Did the alien survive?” Flat Hedgehog asks the question that everyone wants to know the answer to.

The alien waves at them through the window. He is OK.

When Tommy and Arthur leave to get some food, the animals come down from the shelf where Tommy had put them after playing, and they say to the Alien, “We need your help.”

The Alien asks, “For what?”

Goofy said, “The Green-white Cats are coming back.”

The alien inquires, “What is a Green-white Cat?”

Fox answers, “It’s a group of invaders from Ethan’s room. They invaded our room. They belong in Ethan’s room. We got rid of the old ones, but now Ethan has three new ones. They always are so rude, and they cause many problems.”

“Yeah, the big one likes to sit on us, and we don’t like it. She smells so badly that it takes a week for the smell to go away,” Yellow Monkey says holding his nose.

Goofy shakes his head in agreement.

Goofy says, “My younger brother cut some of the Green-white Cats into pieces.”

“Yeah, I kicked the big one in the head and it fell to the ground very hard,” Mr. A Monkey spoke up, very proud of himself.

“Do you remember what happened after that? The big Green-white Cat sat on all of us. You made her so angry,” Flat Hedgehog commented.

Donald Duck joined the group and said, “The smallest one had magnets in its head. She used them to climb up walls and then she jumped down and hit us in the head, but Magnetic Dog caught her and removed the magnets. Now she can’t do that anymore.”

The Alien looks over at the desk and on the leg of the desk he sees Magnetic Dog chasing the small Green-white cat. He almost catches her, but she jumps away.

Max Goof describes the Green-white cats to the Alien, “They are mostly green and white and have pink ears. Their big blue eyes have white around them. They have a white patch on their chests, and white paws. They are really mean.”

Goofy asks the Alien, “Do you have powerful weapons that can destroy the whole species of Green-white cats?”

Yellow Monkey says, “I have the grapeshot. It’s a kind of bomb. When it explodes, it sends bouncing objects in eight directions. They do massive damage.”

The Alien says, “Wow! I have never seen anything like that. I have a ray gun on my ship. When it hits something, it just pops and disappears.”

Hammer Monkey, who has been sleeping the whole time joins the group, and says, “My hammer can hit on the ground and makes rocks come out from the ground.”

Elephant is listening to the conversation. He adds, “I can step on almost anything and make it squish. I did that to the Green-white Cats before.”

The toys make a plan. They need to make sure that Ethan’s Green-white Cats do not come back ever again.

Mr. A monkey goes to Ethan's room. He tells the Green-white Cats there is going to be a party in Tommy's room to welcome them to the house. The new Green-white Cats are excited. They don't know that the animals in Tommy's room hate Green-white cats.

"Come to Tommy's room in one hour. That will give us enough time to prepare the party. I am sure you are going to enjoy yourselves," Mr. A Monkey tells them.

The Green-white Cats are happy and get ready for the party.

Mr. A Monkey goes back to Tommy's room and tells them the plan is set.

"The Green-white Cats believe what I told them. They will never suspect that we have an ambush ready for them. Ha ha ha!"

Yellow monkey climbs on top of the bookshelf. He has a clear view of the doorway. Hammer Monkey hides behind the door. Elephant is on the table ready to jump down. The Alien climbs into his ship and takes off into the air. Wild Pig and the others hide under the bed where they can't be seen.

Everything is ready for the big battle.

The door slowly opens as the Green-white Cats enter the room. They don't see anything, then a loud roar of, "SURPRISE!"

The Green-white Cats think it is a surprise birthday party, but then Tommy's animals start the attack. A grapeshot flies towards them and explodes sending objects in eight directions. The Alien shoots his ray gun. Hammer Monkey hits the floor and rocks fly everywhere.

The Green-white Cats are really surprised.

"Hey! What's going on?" they yell.

"We hate Green-white Cats, and we hate you!" says Goofy.

"What did we ever do to you? We just got here," the biggest Green-white Cat asks.

Ancient Frog says, "I can't hear you. It is too noisy here."

The second biggest Green-white Cat asks, "What's bouncing around here? What are these things?"

Yellow Monkey answers, "Grapeshot parts. Haven't you ever seen grapeshot parts before?"

And then, BOOM! There was an even bigger noise. One of the grapeshots explodes.

The smallest Green-white Cat turned black and then became a pile of dust.

“Let’s get out of here!” yells the biggest Green-white Cat.

They run for the door, but Hammer Monkey is in the way. He hits his hammer again onto the ground and Green-white Cats fall down.

The Biggest Green-white Cat opens the door and then Slinky Dog bounces them out of the room and down the stairs and they end up in the trash can in the living room.

A big cheer goes up in Tommy’s room. The Green-white Cats are gone once again. The room is a mess, but the animals don’t care, until Tommy walks in and sees how his room looks.

They fall over and stop moving.

“What happened in here?” he says to himself, and then he yells, “ETHAN! what have you done to my room?”

Ethan comes to the room and answers, “I didn’t do anything. My Green-white cats are missing. I have to find them.”

He leaves the room to look for his Green-white Cats.

Tommy begins to clean his room. One of the grapeshots explodes.

“How did that happen?” he asks himself. “They are supposed to be in my bomb box. How did they get over here?”

Tommy is very confused.

Then the Alien ship takes off and flies out of the room. Tommy looks up and sees Arthur. He has come over to play.

“I found the controller. I want my alien back,” he says to Tommy.

“No way! You gave that to me,” Tommy answers.

While Tommy and Arthur are arguing the animals sneak back to where they belong.

Tommy notices his room is clean and says, “How did that happen? It was so messy,”

Arthur laughs, “You must have been dreaming.”

They go outside to play with the alien. Meanwhile Ethan is still looking for his Green-white Cats.

“Did our plan work?” asks Mr. A Monkey.

“I think so,” responded Flat Hedgehog.

“How do you know? You weren’t part of the plan,” Elephant spoke up.

“I saw the whole thing from under the bed. From there it looked like you succeeded. Did it?” Flat Hedgehog asked again.

Once again a cheer went up. The plan had worked.

Each animal has a symbol they use to identify themselves in code so that Ethan’s Green-white cats don’t know who they are talking about.

A loud voice can be heard from downstairs, “I found my Green-white cats! They are in the trash can. Tommy, did you put my Green-white Cats in here?”

“No, I didn’t. I wish I had. I don’t like your Green-white Cats, but I didn’t do that,” Tommy shouted back.

“Then who did? Sabrina?” he suggested.

“I don’t know. I wasn’t me,” Tommy responded. “You will need to ask her.”

Arthur asks, “What happened to the bullets for my Alien ship? They are all gone.”

Tommy says, “Let’s go the room to see if we can find them.”

Answering Ethan’s question, Tommy says, “I think it was the Mythicons who put your Green-white cats there.”

“Mythicons? What are Mythicons?” Ethan asks, not knowing what a Mythicon is.

“They are legendary heroes. I think they don’t like Green-white cats,” Tommy offers.

“Why don’t they like Green-white Cats. I love my Green-white Cats. That is why when my other Green-white Cats went missing, I bought new ones,” Ethan explains.

“I think Mythicons are the smartest things in the universe. If they don’t like Green-white Cats, then they must know something we don’t,” Tommy says. Maybe you should just leave them in the trash can.”

“NO WAY! I’m going to take them back to my room,” Ethan says as he takes them out of the can and walks away.

Mr. A Monkey sees that the Green-white Cats have been rescued.

“Hey everybody. Ethan has put the Green-white Cats back into his room. What do we do now?" Mr. A Monkey asks.

Weasel wakes up from his nap, and asks, "Hey, what's happening?"

"You missed all the excitement. We thought we had gotten rid of the new Green-white Cats, but Ethan just saved them," answered Flat Hedgehog.

"I'll go over there and take care of them right now!" exclaimed Weasel.

"Ethan is there, you can't go until he leaves," Mr. A Monkey tells Weasel.

By the time Ethan leaves his room, Weasel is sound asleep again. He is so tired from the time he watched the Green-white Cats from under Ethan's bed.

Yellow Monkey gets on Tommy's phone and calls the toys that are in Tian Jin.

Wolfie answers the phone.

"We need you here as fast as you can get here! We are going to have a war with the Green-white Cats in Ethan's room again. We need your help!"

"Let me talk to the animals here. I will get back to you soon," Wolfie answers. "I think Polar Bear Brothers will help. I'm not so sure Pooh Bear will come. He isn't feeling very well today."

Yellow Monkey hangs up the phone.

"The animals at Tianjin are willing to help, but I'm not sure they will get here in time. They have to wait until Tommy goes there to get them, unless they can figure out another way," Yellow Monkey tells them about the call.

"We'll have to see," says Elephant. "I think we need to make a plan where we don't have their help. If they can come, that's great, but if not, we will just have to make do with what we have here."

A few days pass. They wait for the toys from Tian Jin to arrive. Most of the animals there like it better in Beijing. It is more fun and with the war against the Green-white Cats about to begin, they want to join.

The door to the room opens and Tommy walks in. To the toys surprise, he has an armload of toys. He puts them into his toybox and then leaves.

The toys he brought include: Mr. Pig, Elmo who lost one of his eyes in a fight with the Green-white Cats the last time he was in Tommy's room, Wolfie, Mickey Mouse, Rooster, Bull Dog, Tiny Dog who is attached to Tommy's backpack, Tigger, Viper, and Crab. Most of these toys have been in Tommy's room before, but he had taken them to another place and forgot about them. Now they were ready to help in the war against the new Green-white Cats. They had heard stories about the last war.

"I have an idea, why don't we send Viper to the room. She can fit into small spaces and never be seen," suggests Flat Hedgehog.

"What am I supposed to do while I am there?" Viper asks.

"We want you to spy on the Green-white Cats and tell us what they are doing. We want to set another trap," answers Elephant.

"Why do you want to hurt the Green-white Cats?" she inquires.

Viper is new to the room. She hasn't had experience with the Green-white Cats and how rude they are.

"You'll see soon enough," says Long-legged Panda.

Viper slithers out of the room, down the hallway, and into Ethan's room where she hides behind the toybox.

The Green-white Cats are angry because they were in the trash. They want to get revenge on Tommy's toys. They begin to recruit Ethan's toys to help them, but since they like Tommy's toys they don't want to help. The Green-white Cats warn Ethan's toys that if they don't help, life in Ethan's room will not be good for them. They are the same as the old Green-white Cats, just like everyone thought.

Viper is watching all of this from behind the toybox. She slithers out of the room but finds the door to Tommy's room closed. Not to worry. She slides under the door and into the room.

"So, what did you learn?" asks Yellow Monkey.

"You were right! Those Green-white Cats are mean! They are threatening Ethan's toys if they don't fight you guys. You better get ready. I think they want another war with you. They said they want revenge," Viper explains.

"Don't you remember. Ethan got a remote-control bus for his birthday and he took it to Tianjin, but now it is in his room. I'm sure they can use that!" Green Monkey informs them.

“OK, guys,” Wolfie speaks up. “How can we get rid of the Green-white Cats forever?”

Mr. Pig says, “I know, Elmo and I can rush in and attack them,”

“Wait! The last time I tried that I lost an eye!” Elmo yells out.

“Oh yeah, maybe that isn’t such a good idea,” Mr. Pig says softly.

Elephant says, “But your head is big and heavy. Maybe you can smash the smallest Green-white Cat, she not even as big as your head.”

“If I do that, the bigger Green-white Cats are going to want revenge. I won’t survive. I can’t run fast enough to get away. Maybe we should have Hammer Monkey hit it with his hammer,” Elmo suggests. “Either way, if we attack the smallest Green-white Cat it will start the war.”

Tigger, who is small and fast, recommends that crab go to the room. “He can hold three or four Green-white cats in claws at one time. Then I can steal the smallest Green-white Cat and bring it here.”

Tiny Dog speaks up, and suggests, “Wolfie you need to distract the Green-white Cats attention by dancing with rooster. That’s funny.”

Wolfie responds, “You know I hate to dance with rooster. He is always stepping on my toes. His claws hurt!”

“That’s what makes is so funny,” Tiny Dog laughs.

For the rest of the afternoon the animals are plotting on how to win the war.

Meanwhile, in Ethan’s room, the Green-white cats want the toys to help them, but they do not listen. They know a war is coming and they don’t want to fight Tommy’s toys. The last time they had a war, some of Ethan’s toys were broken and had to be thrown out. They missed their old friends.

Most of Ethan’s toys don’t like the Green-white Cats either, so they plan to help in the fight to get rid of the Green-white Cats. When the Green-white cats were in the trash can, there was peace in the room, and they liked it.

The Green-white Cats realize that they are now alone in the battle against Tommy’s toys, and Ethan's toys are going to fight them as well.

The Green-white cats have a meeting to discuss the strategy on how to defend themselves. Should they attack or wait.

The decided to attack straight-away. They planned to sneak up on them and take them by surprise, one-by-one.

The oldest Green-white Cat suggests, "I have survived three wars already. I know their weaknesses. We always lose because we waited too long. We have to move quickly before they can make a plan."

The biggest Green-white Cat speaks up, "What do we do? There are so many of them. How can we win?"

"We can sneak into the room and capture them one-by-one and drag them here. Then we can throw them into our toybox and lock the top. Once they are in the toybox we will win!" the youngest Green-white Cat got excited.

Viper has returned and hears everything. She slips out to inform Tommy's toys about the plan.

Elmo speaks up first, "That sounds like a great plan, but we will be ready. I think we should all hide while one of us plays alone in the middle of the room. When the Green-white Cats come, we can then jump out and then the war will start. What do you guys think about that?"

Everyone agrees except for Flat Hedgehog who is voted to be the one who is the bait for the trap.

Gorilla comes up with a plan, "Because Flat Hedgehog is so flat, it will be hard for them to drag him away, plus when they try to take him away he can put his spikes up, injuring the Green-white Cats."

A cheer goes up from the group.

Viper adds, "Ethan's toys don't like the Green-white Cats either. I will go back and tell them our plan, so they can help, OK?"

"I have an idea. Since Yellow Monkey can split into multiple holograms, he can confuse the Green-white Cats because they won't know which one is real," Green Monkey reminds them.

That becomes part of the plan.

Viper slithers out of the room. The animals hide under the bed, on the shelves, in the closet, in the drawers, under the dresser, any place they would fit. Flat Hedgehog reluctantly, lays in the middle of the room to wait for the war to begin.

Not long after, the door opens slowly. The littlest Green-white Cat's nose pops into the room, then her eyes. She looks and sees that everything is quiet.

"Hey, the room is empty. They must be sleeping. This is perfect. We can get Flat Hedgehog easily!" she tells the others.

The door bursts open and the Green-white Cats run in to take Flat Hedgehog back to Ethan's room, but to their big surprise, as soon as they touch him his spikes fly up and sting them.

The Green-white Cats scream in pain, letting the other animals know it is time for the battle to begin. From every corner of the room Tommy's animals come out from hiding.

Thirty-six Yellow Monkeys run in different directions. The door flies open, and Ethan's toys join in the room, followed by Viper who told them the plan.

The Green-white Cats are surprised that their surprise attack had failed. They have nowhere to go. They are surrounded.

Still in pain from the spikes, the oldest Green-white Cat speaks up, "OK you've got us. What now?"

Rooster steps up and speaks, "You know why we hate you, don't you?"

"NO, we don't," says the biggest Green-white Cat.

"You should. You are always such bullies, and you always want to hurt us. Now it is our turn," Tigger responds. "We don't want to hurt you, but sometimes you give us no choice."

Crab says, while holding two Green-white Cats in his claws, "Even the aliens don't like you, and they like everybody."

Looking at the animals surrounding them, including Ethan's, the oldest Green-white Cat says, "We didn't realize that we were like that. We have always felt threatened by you.

We thought you were jealous because we are Ethan's favorites. We feel we have to defend ourselves all the time."

"Actually, we have wanted to like you, but you make it very hard. You always think you are better than us. We don't like it!" Gorilla yells at them.

"So, what you are saying is that if we change and become more like you, we won't have to have wars anymore?" the oldest Green-white Cat asks.

"That would be nice," says Elephant. "I hate the way you always tease me. Just leave me alone and we will get along just fine."

The Green-white Cats form a huddle and talk to each other.

The littlest Green-white Cat says, "I think we need to change or else they will tear us apart. I would rather have peace than die."

After a long discussion, the oldest Green-white Cat speaks to the crowd.

"We will try to change if you let us live. Is that a deal?" she asks.

Yellow Monkey is still trying to put all of his holograms back together again. He can't find two of them.

Ancient Frog looks at them with suspicion, "We have given you many chances, why should we give you another one?"

"Because we know we have lost, and we cannot win, even if we tried. We don't want to be torn into pieces and then put into the trash by Ethan's mother like the ones you destroyed last time."

Tommy's and Ethan's animals have discussion of their own.

In the meantime, the Green-white Cats help each other to take out the spines from Flat Hedgehog.

"OK, if you agree to leave us alone and not be such bullies, we will let you live, BUT if you do anything to make us angry again, we won't be so nice!" says Peter Panda, who up until now was in the basement, but was the leader of Tommy's toys before that.

Ethan's toys agree with Tommy's toys.

The Green-white Cats have a meeting and then the biggest Green-white Cat says, "We agree."

From now on, the Green-white Cats and the other animals will live in peace.
Just then, Tommy walks into the room and sees the huge mess of toys on his floor.
He says, “How did my room get so messy?”

THE END