THE LEGEND KING MURRESA CADDY II

A FOLK TALE BY JERRY TANG
RETOLD BY HAL AMES

King Muressa Caddy II’s name was actually Galleury Bondary. Everyone teased him about his silly name. He never liked that name, so one day, he jumped out of the window of the castle. He didn’t die, but he was badly injured, especially his brain. He was never right in the head and after that he was a little bit crazy, which scared the people of the kingdom.

After the fall, he told everyone that his mane was King Muressa Caddy II, even though he was not a king at all. He went crazy and walked around the valley looking for vampires to kill.

The vampires, not wanting to die, asked him if he wanted to join them and become a vampire as well. He told them he wanted to be a vampire, but really, he did not want to be a vampire. He just told them that so he would know where they lived, and then he could kill them more easily.

Once he knew where they were hiding during the day, he went to the castle and asked the soldiers to come and help him kill all of the vampires in the valley.

The soldiers were too afraid, but he said he would ask the armory to build a weapon that could kill the vampires. The designers at the armory worked on the plans that King Muressa Caddy II made, and soon they had a weapon that could kill many vampires at a time. After they knew the weapon would work, they agreed to help.

The soldiers marched into the valley with the new weapon hoping to kill all of the vampires, but some of the vampires escaped and then the soldiers had to fight them without the weapon, which made the fighting more difficult. The vampires bit some of the soldiers, and they became vampires themselves. This made it more difficult for King Muressa Caddy II to win the war.

Now he had to find another way to kill the vampires. The soldier vampires knew about the weapon and knew how to hide from it.

During the war with the vampires, King Muressa Caddy II got very sick. The disease made him very weak and he had to hide in a cave so the vampires would not find him and bite him. He did not want to be a vampire himself.

When he got better, he was much stronger than before. Surviving the illness also healed his brain. He was now normal, but he did not want the people to know. As far as they knew he was still King Muressa Caddy II. He also became much stronger than before. He was able to kill three vampires with only one swing of his mighty vampire-killing sword. King Muressa Caddy II was the first person to ever to survive the disease.

When the people of the castle found out how strong he was, he became a hero! The people wanted to follow him, and with his help, they were finally able to kill all of the remaining vampires.

The battle took three days, but in the end, all of the vampires were gone. Unknown to the people, King Muressa Caddy II had been bitten before he got sick and had become a vampire himself. He kept it a secret. It was the reason that he had survived the illness. Eventually, he would be the greatest vampire ever. He would become the king of the vampires. He had killed all the other vampires to create his own army of loyal vampires who would help him become famous. He was so famous that he became the king of the castle. The old king ran away when King Muressa Caddy II told him that he was really a vampire and that he was going to make the old king a vampire.

He had many names during his lifetime. Later people changed his name to Count Dracula, the most famous vampire of all!